

The PMC Studio sponsors British Silver Week

The PMC Studio Ltd – the UK distributor for the most dynamic and versatile form of silver craftsmanship today – is proud to announce its sponsorship of British Silver Week which will run from Monday 9th June.

British Silver Week is a national platform for the amazing range of talents displayed by Britain's modern silversmiths, increasing numbers of whom are using Precious Metal Clay (PMC) in conjunction with traditional techniques.

At least 30 leading silversmiths will exhibit pieces during British Silver Week, and the PMC Studio will offer each of them the opportunity to attend special PMC Workshops where they can learn more about how PMC can enhance their work.

PMC is a form of mouldable fine silver which uses ground silver particles, a non-toxic organic binder and water. Once an item is created, it is fired to burn off the binder, leaving a piece which is 99% pure silver.

It is a complementary medium to Sterling Sheet silver and is ideal for creating patterns and textures as it can be easily moulded or sculpted. Silversmiths love PMC because it is incredibly flexible and can be re-fired many times which provides the chance to add to an existing piece at any time.

Helen O'Neill, who founded the PMC Studio in August 2005, explains: "PMC is, quite simply, the newest, most exciting and most versatile medium for creating all sorts of silver jewellery and gift items. Everybody who tries PMC comes away an advocate, even the most expert professional – which is why we are thrilled to sponsor British Silver Week and to be involved in such a wonderful celebration of contemporary silversmithing."
